For 342 ex-Boise workers it's the unemployment line

As members of Local 900 of the United Paperworkers International Union returned to work at Boise Cascade in Rumford this week, 342 of the nearly 1,200 union paperworkers were forced to stay outside the gates.

They were angry—at Boise management (which had hired replacement workers), at their union officials (who last weekend recommended accepting Boise's "final offer"), and at the 342 replacement workers who had accepted jobs as strikebreakers. "Boise is a low-life outfit (to work for)," commented one out-of-work paperworker.

The 76-day strike ended Sept. 14 when the paperworkers, by a 2-1 margin, voted to accept the Boise offer after Boise guaranteed grievance procedures in a back-to-work agreement with union officials. Those voting against accepting the Boise contract were mostly those who knew their jobs had been taken by replacements during the course of the strike.

With so many angry and out-of-work paperworkers in town, Rumford citizens did not find the peace they were hoping for with the settlement of the strike. "This town is a time bomb," said one store owner, "and the fuse is very short."

Meanwhile, the state was busy processing unemployment claims from the laid-off union members. Jean-Marie Caterina, an assistant to the commissioner of the Department of Labor, told The Citizen, "We're hoping that starting next week checks can begin to be handed out."

She said most of the workers had applied for benefits during the course of the strike, although there was no chance of receiving benefits at that time. "We cannot (by law) pay for a work stoppage,"

she said. (Unemployment benefits would be tabulated from Sept. 14, she said.)

"So far as those people who have been replaced, they will collect," Ms. Caterina said. Average weekly payments would be around $130 and could last for 26 weeks, as long as the unemployed worker could prove that he or she was actively looking for a job. (During the strike, strikers were receiving strike benefits of $55 a week from the international union.)

It was not clear that the 342 would be looking for other permanent work. Most seemed to be hoping that they would be hired from the preferential list that Boise officials said they would be placed on.

Meanwhile, some laid-off workers were still hoping that their union's charges that Boise illegally hired the replacements would be substantiated by the National Labor Relations Board. The union's attorney said he had re-filed charges last Friday against Boise—charges that had been withdrawn earlier this month.

One who went back; two who lost their jobs

With union ratification of the contract a week-and-a-half ago, striking paperworkers began returning to work following re-orientation sessions with Boise managers.

This week, most of those who still had jobs to return to were at work. But there were still 342 others, whose former jobs had been taken over by permanent replacements hired by Boise during the course of the 76-day strike. (Boise mill manager Doug Daniels pointed out it was only the third time that a paper mill in the U.S. had hired permanent replacement workers.)

One of those on the outside looking in this week was Orville Meisner, of East Andover. "I'm not going back, I guess," he said. His former job was as lead checker in the shipping department. He held the highest position in his department, aside from salaried personnel. He was due to retire next June.

Vandals disturb peace

Vandals were active in Bethel Saturday night or early Sunday morning. A person or persons, as yet unknown, shot BB's into the plate glass window of the RFD #1 Restaurant on Main Street and caused an estimated $700 damage to the car of Brenda and Larry Sweetser, of Mill Hill, according to Police Chief Bob Stearns.

In what he believed to be an unrelated incident, the car of Debbie Mills was also peppered with BB's.

RFD #1 owner Brian Strickland said this was the second time his restaurant has been the target of vandals. He said a few irresponsible people are disturbing the peacefulness of the town and creating a bad image for the entire town.

PLANNING BOARD MEETS

The Bethel Planning Board will meet tonight (Wednesday) at the ambulance garage, at 7 p.m.

The developers of the planned Eden Ridge subdivision are expected to present additional information to the board.

HANOVER TOWN MEETING

The annual town meeting is scheduled for Sept. 23, 7 p.m. at Hanover Town House.

THE TEACHERS AND PARENTS GROUP OF EBS/CPS kicked off their cooperative efforts for the school year with a dinner at the Telstar cafeteria last week.

G-W lakes association comes closer to reality

Organizers of a lakes association in Greenwood-Woodstock were buoyed by the good turnout at an organizational meeting last Saturday morning in the Woodstock town hall. About two dozen people showed up for the meeting—about the same number (but different people) as showed up for a meeting earlier in the summer.

Organizers hope to contact all shorefront property owners by letter this coming spring and have a larger meeting under Memorial Day.

Greenwood organizer Mary Stone said she has already identified 250 shorefront property owners on Greenwood's nine ponds. Over 75 percent of the owners live out-of-state, she said.

The reason for wanting to organize a lakes association, she said, is to preserve the cleanliness and purity and beauty of the lakes and ponds in Greenwood and Woodstock. "These lakes we have will not always be as they are today," she said, adding that it was imperative for the two communities—not just the shorefront property owners—to set up regulations designed to preserve the quality of the lakes.

She cited Songo Pond as a body of water that has been allowed to deteriorate through lack of preventive measures. "Most people are unaware about what can happen to spoil a pond," she said.

MSAD #44

Directors' meeting

The SAD #44 Board of Directors met in regular session at the Andover Elementary School on Monday evening of this week.

Marguerite Graham of Bethel made a presentation to the directors concerning the efforts and plans of the Mahosuc Arts Council, an organization formed to bring programs on the arts and humanities of the area schools and community. The council has announced the following events: Kitchen Sink Mime, Oct. 9, a.m. at Telstar, evening at Gould Academy; Jim Scott, Oct. 28-30, mornings in the elementary schools, Thursday evening at Gould; Mandala, Nov. 22, evening at Telstar; Bennington Puppets, April 9 or 10, at Telstar and Gould.

The directors approved the appointment of Carol O. Hathaway as a district bus driver on the Mt. Abram-Twitchell Pond run. Mrs. Hathaway had previously been employed by SAD #44 as a schoolbus driver for 7½ years. The resignation of Roy S. Silver as an industrial arts instructor at Telstar Regional High School was accepted, effective at the close of the current school year. It is Mr. Silver's plan to enter retirement.

Susan Whiting of Rumford was approved as an elementary teacher at Telstar Middle School. Ms. Whiting attended Wheelock College, Boston, Mass.; the University of Maine at Orono; and received her bachelor of science degree

W. Paris residents meet again tonight on bank's closing

Officials of the Bethel Savings Bank will host a public forum tonight (Wednesday), at the Agnes Gray School gym, at 7 p.m., to explain why they are going to close their branch in West Paris and serve the community from a new branch to be opened in South Paris.

West Paris residents have been protesting the closure of the branch since they learned of it from newspaper reports. (The story appeared first in The Citizen, Sept. 10.) At a meeting organized by West Paris resident and Bank Advisory Board member Bill Gibson last Wednesday, about 40 people showed up at the fire station to protest the impending closure. With bank president Jim Delamater in attendance to explain the bank's position, one woman asked for a show of hands as to how many would continue to patronize the bank if it moved. Not a single hand went up.

Mr. Delamater explained that the bank's business was growing from West Paris to the remainder of the Oxford Hills area. "More and more our customer

Budget Committee against more money for police protection

The Bethel Budget Committee met Monday night to discuss whether to recommend a "yes" vote or a "no" vote on the upcoming warrant article concerning extra money for extra police protection. They voted against the measure. The committee vote was 7-0-1, with committee member Jane Young abstaining.

Committee member Arnel Brown said, "I think we have to remember that we're in Bethel, with Bethel police, and not NYPD."

Sam Timberlake asked Town Manager Rodney Lynch whether there has been any upsurge in crime that would warrant increased police coverage in town. Mr. Lynch responded that the only increase has been in domestic incidents.

However, Mr. Lynch continued, "During the summer you really do need extra police protection, especially around Main Street."

Committee members suggested winter patrols could be curtailed and the money thus saved could be used to beef up patrols in the summer.

Committee member Bob Chadbourne, who presented the motions against the

A new tune

Bob Boose is whistling a new tune these days. If you will recall, Boose was Gov. Joseph E. Brennan's commissioner of education. He was largely responsible for designing and shepherding through the Legislature a school-reform package that included, among other things, new high school graduation requirements effective for the class of 1989. Students in that class will have to take a year of fine arts, two years of mathematics, two years of science, a year of social studies, a half-year of health and some computer study, in addition to the requirements that already were in place. The price tag for local school systems to implement this reform has been estimated at $2.5 million.

Now Boose has been reincarnated in the new form of a local-control advocate in New Jersey where he is deputy executive director of the New Jersey School Boards Association. It's to be expected he might have a slightly different perspective than he had as a commissioner of education catering to the political hysteria that surrounded the nation's schools a couple of years ago. But what should Mainers—or New Jerseyites—make of his 180-degree philosophical turnaround?

In response to a proposal by the New Jersey commissioner of education to increase high school graduation requirements, Boose testified earlier this summer, "Where is the research supporting (additional course and credit requirements)?... We have read the same excellence reports they have, and we know of no cause-and-effect relationship which demonstrates that increased numbers of state-mandated courses and credits have a (beneficial) effect on student achievement."

Boose said the proposed requirements—which included an additional year each of social studies, mathematics and science—were "too academically oriented." He suggested they would cause students to drop out of school, reduce opportunities to take vocational courses, and do nothing for college-bound students, who already are regulated by college-entrance requirements.

"The key to improving educational excellence is what students learn, not how many courses they take," said Boose. Curricula options should be left up to school boards, he concluded.

Surely there are more than a few lawmakers and school board members in Maine who should be asking themselves, Why didn't Commissioner Boose tell us all this two years ago? We hope that the former commissioner's chameleon-like behavior is the exception and not the rule, and that the majority of state and local school administrators argue such issues from the depths of their beliefs about what is in the best interests of their students, rather than who is providing their paychecks.

Mainers will justifiably have some questions about their much-ballyhooed school-reform package—a centerpiece of the Brennan administration—just knowing that former Commissioner Boose didn't really believe in all that stuff to begin with. Or is it the other way around, and he doesn't believe in anything he's telling people in New Jersey?

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the monthly meeting will be held on Thursday, Oct. 2, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House beginning at 7:30 p.m. The program will feature the annual "What's It." Anyone with an unusual item is encouraged to bring it to the meeting for exhibit and discussion. Following this portion of the meeting, a film "A Glorious System of Things," a new film from Colonial Williamsburg, will be shown. Set entirely in the 18th century, the film shows modern audiences their colonial counterparts' response to the wonders of science—the power of electricity, the properties of vacuum, and, for some, their first enlightenment about the universe through astronomy. Anyone interested in attending this program is cordially invited to do so.

Rev. Don McAllister of Norway, a life member of the Bethel Historical Society, recently presented the society with a typescript list of all burials in Riverside and Riverside Annex cemeteries in South Paris. These records are now available to researchers in the society's Eva Bean Research Room.

Discipline problems in schools are really nothing new as this letter of an expelled Gould Academy student appealing to the Board of Trustees for reinstatement in June 1954 illustrates: "Whereas I have been expelled from this institution for violating its rules and regulations, and hoping to get back again I take this method not to apologize nor make excuses, but to make a frank and open acknowledgment of rules which I have broken. I am guilty of using profane language too often and have played cards once only this term and have not attended Church very regular, have visited the rooms of others & the tavern on the sabbath & perhaps have made too much noise in the streets. I have left town once without permission of the teacher & that is all I think that I am guilty of & now I promise if taken back that I will comply with any reasonable rules and regulations of the institute & if I am not taken back I shall sure think that I have entirely done my duty & all anyone can do. As for the tongue (of the Academy bell) I was not engaged in the transaction at all and did not know when it was done nor

Testimonial dinner to honor 'Norm' Ferguson

The Oxford County Republican Committee will honor Norman K. Ferguson, Sr., of Hanover at a dinner Friday, Sept. 26, in South Paris.

Mr. Ferguson was born in 1901 in St. Esprit, Cape Breton, Nova Scotia. He has worked all his life at a variety of jobs including chauffeur, insurance agent, construction worker, and as a mill worker for the Oxford Paper Company in Rumford. In 1932 he married Hazel Merrill and the Fergusons have four children, a son and three daughters.

In 1952 and again in 1954 he was elected to the Maine State House of Representatives and then went on to serve four terms in the Maine State Senate. The Maine legislature also elected him three times, in 1967, 1969, and 1971, to serve as state treasurer. From 1951 to 1984 Norm also served as a selectman for the town of Hanover.

Noted for his fund-raising ability, he acted as the Republican finance chairman for Oxford County and was always known to exceed his quota.

The dinner will be held at the American Legion Hall on Church Street in South Paris with a social hour to begin at 6 p.m. Roland Sutton of Norway will act as master of ceremonies and interested people should contact their Republican town chairman for tickets.

that it was again to be done until after it was done & then the ones that did do it told me and told me where it was & day before yesterday I told them that if they did not bring it back that I should report them & if you ask me I will now tell (the tongue is on the west side of the wall near the well of the railroad that has lately been dug). If any more questions are needed I will answer them any time." The student involved was named Greenleaf Cummings and he was re-admitted. Apparently he behaved himself for the remainder of his time at Gould. Eva Bean records that he later taught school in Albany and after that became a doctor. Medicine was apparently not to his liking either, however, and he entered a career in business. At one time he was considered the wealthiest man in the town of Paris, but died relatively young.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Those of us involved in the $1.5 billion vacation and recreation industry in Maine can now reflect on the past summer's activity.

Blame it on the weather, blame it on dollar value abroad, blame it on depressed international airfares but the fact is, as it always has been, there were a lot of hotel rooms, seats in restaurants and tourist attractions that did not sell to capacity.

Many of us in the business have felt that the state's modest efforts to support this $150 million annual revenue source are simply not enough. Not enough funding, people or organization to compete with neighboring New England states whose efforts to attract tourism are herculean compared to Maine's.

The candidate for governor who seems to most clearly understand the growth potential of our industry and therefore growth in revenue for the state is Jock McKernan. While all candidates at all levels pay lip service to supporting this, Maine's second largest industry, McKernan has put teeth into his support.

His specific plans involve a better organization with better planning and substantially increased resources to be targeted toward generating more state revenue from the vacation/recreation industry.

He means business and has taken the time to understand the industry's potential for growth, its positive impact on the state's economy and the kind of program required to make the industry flourish.

I urge all Maine residents, particularly the 40,000 or so employed full time in the tourism industry, to take the time to understand Jock McKernan's commitment in this area.

Personal safety highlighted in adult ed.

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program in offering several courses this fall which relate to safety. These include a 3-session class in CPR, a 4-week class in Hunter Safety, and a 2 week class in Defensive Driving. Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell emphasized that these classes are open to students as well as adults.

The CPR class will be held at Telstar Regional High School on Thursdays from 7-9 starting Sept. 25, taught by Florence Merrill. The life-saving skill of cardiopulmonary resuscitation is easy to learn and can be an essential in an emergency, prior to the arrival of trained medical personnel. The class allows for ample practice on both the adult and infant dummies. The class is designed for those who wish to learn this technique, however anyone who is in need of recertification may arrange to complete this during the class.

Telstar's Levi Brown will be the instructor for the Hunter Safety class which will be held at Telstar on Thursday nights from 6:30-8:30. This class is mandatory for all new license holders, and includes all phases of safe use of firearms, including range practice.

The Bureau of Safety's Defensive Driving course will be held at Telstar on Oct. 7, 9, 14, and 16 under the supervision of Eldon Bartlett. This class is worth 5 license points to those who complete the four sessions. Some insurance companies offer reduced premiums for successful completion, and the class is an excellent complement to the traditional driver education for the beginning driver. The class will be made up within one year without loss of credit.

To enroll, or for further information, call the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education, 824-2780.

The new town office will be opened for business Tuesday, Sept. 23, from 6 to 8 p.m. This is the first day of autumn. Regular hours will be Tuesdays, 6 to 8 p.m., and Thursdays, 9 to noon, and by appointment. The selectmen plan an open house on Sept. 27 from 9 to 12. Beverage and snacks will be served. Many people have contributed to this project. The Williamsons furnished the three desks, chairs, and a table, Andy and Dolly Cox contributed the paint and labor for the garage. Margaret Mitchell, the Lecomtes and several others have donated a variety of things. All their names will be put on a plaque to be hung in the office.

Bethel Senior Citizens will go on their annual foliage trip Oct. 2. Those desiring more information should call Joan Coolidge.

Mrs. Jo Ann Royer, Mrs. Elaine Packard and Mrs. Evelyn Wing spent a few days recently visiting friends and relatives in Jay, Dexter and Dover-Foxcroft.

Ada Balentine has moved from Stephens Memorial Hospital to Market Square Nursing Home, South Paris.

Mrs. Melva Willard remains a patient at the Maine Medical Center.

Rev. and Mrs. David Larson have returned from a vacation with their children and families in St. Paul, Minn.

Mrs. David York, Kimberly, Kristen and Katelyn, South Paris, visited relatives in town last week.

Nina and Gabriel Perkins, Albany, spent Thursday evening with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Perkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Morey Palmer (Dorothy Fish), Gladstone, Mo., have been guests of her mother, Mrs. Adeline Dexter, and sister, Marjorie Puaia of Rumford, for a week spent at camp at Howard Pond.

hydro plant in Errol were gazing at the mountains, wondering if that white stuff was frost—or really snow, when they drove into the notch and got the answer spread out like a huge white blanket.

Diane Abbott Thurston is scheduled to go into the hospital in Bridgton for a major operation this week. She was a resident of Upton for several years. Her uncle, Sidney Abbott, is waiting admission to Maine Medical in Portland for a triple by-pass.

Mardie Edwards spent the week in Upton as she is recuperating from an operation on her spine.

Many years ago, before my time or yours, the road between Grafton and Upton, included what is now called Lover's Lane but is hardly perceptible as a road and Backstreet. There were steep hills and someone redesigned the road close to what is now part of Route 26. As farms were sold to paper companies, the original route shortened and when we moved here in 1945 the road was passable only at certain times of year. The trend has reversed and other homes have been built, some hunting camps occupied for weekends or a week or two at a time throughout the year. Although the road has been improved so that it is passable at all times except during or shortly after the most severe storms, if we drive faster than a crawl over Dwellier Hill we hop about like water on a hot stove, and the brush unkempt gives the road a scruffy, unkempt look. Hopefully, this will be brought up to date for many reasons including a step towards fire prevention.

A special thank-you to the Immaculate Heart of Mary. My prayers have been answered.

• Latex deck paint is usually your best bet for a concrete floor. If it peels on a garage floor, it's usually greasy floors or just trees not the paint that causes the problem.

• There's a small hotel. "I say the old song and indeed there is a mini hotel at the Los Angeles International Airport. Its 13 rooms have just minimal accommodations for tired travelers.

• It may seem as if you can get more mileage out of paint by pressing harder with your roller and starts to go dry. But as the paint dries you'll find it has not really covered and another coat is needed.

• The best way to hang a rug or quilt on the wall is to make a sturdy wood mat that's half an inch smaller all around than the textile, and attach corners of Velcro fasteners, securing tape to the corners of the rug and smooth into place.

W. PARIS RESIDENTS MEET
base has shifted from this area to South Paris, Norway and Oxford," he said. "We love the village and we had a commitment to it, but we can't get the rest of the area to come bank with us (here)."

This drew a sharp retort from a man in the audience who said, "It's alright for us to travel to South Paris (to a branch bank) but it's not alright for people in South Paris to come here—isn't that the way it comes out?"

President Delamater argued that the new branch in South Paris—on Rte. 26—will be bigger and offer more and better services than the West Paris branch. This argument also fell on deaf ears. People in the audience said they were satisfied with having a loan officer show up just one day a week.

Town Treasurer Gwen Ellingwood told Mr. Delamater: "I have been investing the town's money in your bank even though it wasn't the highest interest rate." But, she said, she withdrew $85,000 of town funds after she learned of the bank's plan to move. "As long as I'm treasurer we won't do any more business with Bethel Savings Bank."

Earlier last week, angry residents sent a petition to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, in Boston. The board must approve the closing of the West Paris branch and the opening of the South Paris branch. The petition was started by Mrs. Leon Poland Sr., who rushed it off in order to beat the first deadline for commenting on the impending move.

"Had I had more time, I'll bet I could've gotten a thousand names," Mrs. Poland told The Citizen. As it was, in the few days of collecting signatures, she garnered 428. Explaining why she started the petition, she said, "I just thought I could do my little bit. . . If you lose your bank, what will you do next? It's a nice little bank. There's a lot of elderly who won't be able to get to South Paris."

Despite the expressed feelings of the petitioners, Mr. and Mrs. Poland received a letter from a Federal Home Loan Bank official this week stating: "Please be advised that. . . we are unable to require that Bethel Savings maintain this branch location based upon the circumstances of its proposed closing." Those circumstances, according to the official's letter, are the facts stated by Mr. Delamater: that the bank cannot afford to offer full-service banking in West Paris but could from a branch in South Paris.

When Bill Gibson learned of the letter he said, "It seems like a foregone conclusion (that the bank will close its branch)." Nevertheless, he and a committee still plan to write a letter of protest to the Federal Home Loan Bank Board. The board's final approval of the move is expected by the end of this month, according to bank officials. The move will be made in the spring.

Bethel Savings Bank is the third bank to operate a branch in West Paris. The Rumford Falls Trust Company was the first. It was taken over by the Maine National Bank, which in 1978, turned the branch over to Bethel Savings.

Bank officials indicated that the building currently housing the branch bank will likely be put up for sale.

CARD OF THANKS
Dear wonderful people,
Thank you so much for a very productive and prosperous weekend. You are all truly generous with your energy, time, talents, and wealth. There are so many people (many we don't even know personally) that contributed to our family in many, many ways. Since disaster struck us, it has been incredible to see a community band together so strongly to pick up the pieces. We will never forget how you helped us and please don't hesitate to ask us when you need help too. We are forever indebted.

The list of names we have of people that we know who have helped us goes on and on and on but we would like to mention two special people who have been the keys to the successful weekend. Charlie Reiss, we can't thank you enough for all that you have done as a friend who took charge of the house raising work party and helped accomplish way more than we had thought and hoped for. We'd like to thank also Roberta White for all the work she did cooking for and running the benefit supper for us at the Albany Church. We will always remember how you cooked a turkey for the work party and delivered it to us on the same day as the church supper in the midst of all the preparations you had to do for that. It is easy to say you are a person who gives of yourself 100 percent.

Thank God a million times, day and night, for all the love, generosity and service that many good people have in their hearts.

ONE WHO WENT BACK. . .
"What's a guy do when he's got 39 years in the place?" he wondered out loud as he assessed his alternatives. And he pointed out that most of the people replaced were older, experienced workers, who cost the company more in wages and benefits. "All the departments they replaced were older men," he said. "I think they picked the departments with the older people."

Dick Merrill, of Andover, is another experienced worker with no job to go back to. He also feels that the company is selectively eliminating the older, more experienced workers. "They've got senior people (laid off) who've worked there through the years. But they (Boise) don't seem to care," he said. He added: "Whether they want to screw around for six months to a year with those scabs (replacements) or whether they want to hire their experienced papermakers back and start making money is up to them."

Mr. Merrill—who has 23 years in the mill and was working on the #15 paper-making machine—sees the loss of his job as part of the company's strategy to assert its control over its workforce. "They've got 342 men and they're dangling them on a string, and I'm one of them. . . I would like to get back. I like my job. But Boise wants to be able to jerk our string. . . Basically all this boils down to is breaking the union. . . It all started when (President) Reagan got in to office."

Both Mr. Merrill and Mr. Meisner voted against ending the strike. "I thought we could've beat them economically," explained the former. But with the union leadership recommending acceptance of the contract, and with the loss of 350 maintenance jobs, a distinct possibility, the union—on Sept. 14—accepted the company's "final offer."

Both the Andover men who lost their jobs felt it was a short-sighted decision. "Why save their jobs (in maintenance) and lose ours?" asked Mr. Meisner. "At least we would've all got them back or nobody would've got them back."

The hard feelings caused by the 2-1 vote in favor of accepting the final offer still remain. Mr. Merrill said, "They (Boise) were trying to drive a wedge in the union, and they finally succeeded." Harold Hutchins, of Andover, was one of those who voted to go back. He explained his change of heart, after voting in June to go out on strike. "People put all their faith in the union and it (the strike) didn't work out," he said. And he said there was more to it than just keeping the 350 maintenance jobs. "It wasn't just maintenance. It was to stop more people losing jobs." He added, "Nobody wins in a strike. Everybody loses."

Back at work, Mr. Hutchins said he felt somewhat uncomfortable, even though there were no replacement workers in utilities, where he works as a boiler engineer. (He's been at the mill for 22 years.)

Nevertheless, he was glad to be back at his job. "It was good to be back to work," he said. "It's a good job. Nothing in the area is comparable to it."

Mr. Merrill, looking back bitterly on what he lost, said, "I don't deny that we had a good situation, but we sacrificed for it."

N.E. and constitution series begins Sept. 24
The first session of New England and the Constitution reading and discussion series will be held on Wednesday evening, Sept. 24 (tonight) in the Bethel Public Library. Entitled "Shay's Rebellion and the Gathering Crisis" the session will also feature the film, "A Little Rebellion Now and Then," a documentary that explores the uprising of farmers in western Massachusetts against the Commonwealth as well as the conflicts between agrarian and commercial interests throughout New England in the Federal period. Shay's Rebellion, the notorious 1786 agrarian insurrection, proved the final argument for the establishment of a strong central government. The conflict posed fundamental questions about governing a republic, questions still argued by historians.

Sponsored by the New England Library Association and the New England Foundation for the Humanities, the series is free and open to all interested persons. Historian Stanley R. Howe, Director of the Bethel Historical Society, will make a brief presentation at each session and lead the discussion.

TELSTAR FRESHMEN MET WITH PEER COUNSELORS for two days last week at Sunday River skiway to discuss problems in adapting to a high school environment.

BUDGET COMMITTEE AGAINST
measure, said, "I know this is very popular with some people, but as we add more (police). . . the less we get from state and county."

The call for increased police protection began as a citizens' petition in August—signed by 157 residents—and was accepted as a warrant article by the selectmen. At the same time, however, the selectmen noted that the petitioned article called for doubling the police protection but didn't authorize enough money to do so. The amount in the petitioners' article called for raising an additional $22,000, but Town Manager Lynch calculated the extra costs of the additional protection authorized at $31,000 for the October-June period, above the $31,000 already allocated for that time frame.

The selectmen therefore inserted a second article into the warrant, asking voters to simply state whether or not they wanted to spend an additional $22,000 on the police budget this fiscal year. At their Sept. 15 meeting, the selectmen—on a 5-0 vote—recommended against both articles. At their regular meeting next Monday night, the selectmen are expected to set Oct. 16 as the date of the special town meeting to decide the issue. Also expected to be on the warrant at that time will be the matter of the revised Comprehensive Plan. Voters will be asked to approve the updated plan, which has already been discussed at two public hearings.

WMNF to celebrate 75th birthday
The White Mountain National Forest is 75 years old, and will be celebrating with a Field Day on Saturday, Sept. 27. There will be events and entertainment the entire length of the Kancamagus Highway (Route 60, between Conway and Lincoln, N.H.).

Starting at 10 a.m. there will be field trips, demonstrations, contests, displays, guided hikes, and numerous other special events. Many additional activities are scheduled for the Saco Ranger Station at the Conway end of the Kancamagus Highway. The variety, suited for all ages, will include horse logging, snowshoe making, fishing, white water canoeing, hawk watching, history, and natural history hikes.

An event not to be missed are the woodmen demonstrations by the Dartmouth College and the University of New Hampshire Woodsmen Teams. With a few exceptions all events will be held rain or shine. Dress for the mountains! The fall foliage should close to peak color at the higher elevations with bursts of bright color throughout the White Mountain National Forest.

All activities, displays, programs, demonstrations, and slide shows are free and the public is invited. A printed field day program will be available.

SAD #44 11th-grade test scores matched up with neighbors'

Below are the area results for the statewide tests administered to 11th-graders last spring. The average score in each test is 250. Each school district can be judged in comparison with districts similar in socio-economic makeup. These comparisons for Telstar were published in The Citizen two weeks ago. Below, the Telstar results are compared with the results from the neighboring school districts.

Subject	Telstar	OHHS	Dixfield	Mexico	Rumford
Reading	220	250	245	170	265
Writing	245	210	240	135	240
Grammar	200	220	265	160	320
Mathematics	205	250	245	160	260
Science	330	215	285	180	275
Social Studies	290	210	155	175	215
Humanities	245	230	255	155	235

The comparative results were presented to the school directors Monday night.

New figures show enrollment rising

With more complete enrollments figures tabulated, this fall's enrollment totals indicate that the decline in enrollments in the SAD #44 system has been reversed and enrollments are now on the way up.

Superintendent Dewaine Craig furnished the following picture of fall enrollments for the past 10 years:

1978	1,336
1979	1,327
1980	1,313
1981	1,246
1982	1,201
1983	1,186
1984	1,200
1985	1,170
1986	1,180

The above figures were calculated after the second full week of school in the past 10 years.

(In the totals for the past three years, published in The Citizen two weeks ago, it was reported that there was a slight decline this year. This was based on an incorrect figure for last year and was thus incorrect. In that article, the breakdown of figures by grades contained an error in the kindergarten totals. The correct kindergarten figure is 102.)

NOTES FROM Telstar Guidance

The Freshman Awareness Committee at Telstar (FACT) has again worked diligently in providing the second annual Freshmen Awareness Workshop at Sunday River Skiway, on Sept. 17 and 18. Nearly 95 percent of the freshman class attended the two-day program. Thirty-five upperclassmen and six high school faculty members coordinated and implemented over 12 hours of academic, career, and social activities in small group discussions, skits, movies, special guest speakers and large group presentations. A special thank-you from the FACT team to the following: Edelweiss, Sunday River Skiway, Edleen Winslow, Les Otten, John Elliot, Rick Whitney, Roger Conant, Peter Venne, Linda Westleigh, and Will Taylor.

A special notice to all sophomore parents: the school district is once again providing the Survey of Basic Skills testing this week. During the three days of the testing, all sophomores will be tested in the areas of vocabulary, reading comprehension, language mechanics, language usage, spelling, mathematics, reference materials, social studies and science. This achievement-based test is provided by Science Research Associates. The results of the Survey will be provided to Telstar faculty, sophomore students and parents before Thanksgiving.

Attention to college and vocational school-bound seniors: the deadline for taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test in November is this Friday, Sept. 26. Applications for registration are in the Guidance Office.

Another activity provided by the Guidance Office is an evening for high school parents. The Guidance Office feels it's a priority to meet with all parents throughout the school year regarding students' social, academic and career activities. Therefore, an evening of orientation, information-sharing and decision-making is provided for senior, junior, sophomore and freshmen parents. The following parent nights are scheduled: juniors (Tuesday, Oct. 7, 7 p.m.), sophomores (Tuesday, Oct. 28, 7 p.m.), freshmen (Tuesday, Nov. 25, 7 p.m.). The evening for parents of seniors was last night (Tuesday).

Seniors will be invited to attend the College Fair at the University of Southern Maine on Wednesday, Oct. 1. Those seniors attending will be expected to pay a travel fee to cover expenses.

EBS/CPS OPEN HOUSE OCT. 1

The teachers at Crescent Park and Ethel Bisbee schools invite all parents to an open house Wednesday, Oct. 1. Ethel Bisbee School will be open from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., while Crescent Park will be open from 7 to 8 p.m.

The open house will allow parents and teachers to get acquainted.

The Crescent Park portable resource room and library will be open for display, and there will be a book fair in the library for gift buying. Used text books will be given away in the resource room.

Encompassing the theme, "To Catch the Spirit," Jeri Brooks, a member of the Mundt-Allen Unit #81, American Legion Auxiliary, participated in the recently completed 1986 National Leadership Workshop of the American Legion in Tumbull, Conn. Sessions were devoted to programs of Americanism, Children & Youth, Membership, Public Relations, and Veterans Affairs and Rehabilitation.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

The wind is playing this morning, scraping and blowing anything in its path. As I walked up the driveway I instinctively buttoned my coat against its snappiness. At the crest of the hill I turned to a view which opened to the west and north across the valley and ridges. Above the pond I watched an osprey performing its turns and soaring stunts overhead. It seemed to enjoy the unencumbered freedom of the sky as much as I enjoyed the windy freedom of my driveway.

On the ground the multi-colored tapestry of grasses and flowers caught the ground breeze. The whole lawn shimmered with each gust. They bent to the breeze, then straightened up to await the next breath.

A crackling grasshopper soared and landed on the driveway, disappearing into the background.

A blue beetle climbed to the top of a grass stalk near the flower garden, then down the underside of another.

The ant hill was by the shed where it appears each year. I once read an article about these tiny tireless foragers so they have meaning, because of what I read.

I stopped to see a white-breasted nuthatch make his way down an aspen, headfirst. He blended into the shadows. Slowly and deliberately he proceeded down the trunk testing every step for gnarls under the bark.

I continued my walk around the driveway, my first since my fall 10 days ago. Even that short distance, the mountain wind blew away the cobwebs from my mind.

Doris Hayes is visiting her sisters in Falmouth for a couple of days.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holt, Ricky and Jenny, were at Mr. and Mrs. Leonas Holt's for the weekend and visited "Storyland" at Glen, N.H., on Sunday.

Ann Holt, Bethel; Eldith Lang, West Bethel; Tara Durgin, Local; were also callers.

My callers were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks, Louvie Coffin, Avis Stellhorn, West Paris; Lucy Ridley, Norway.

I have an appointment for eye surgery on Sept. 17.

Cruegar Morrill, a former Gould Academy soccer star, will be entering his second season as a wing for the Southern Maine Vocational Technical Institute "Techs" this fall.

The cool weather, along with the leaves turning color, makes one realize that autumn is here and the freezing and canning of garden produce must be done as soon as possible, before a frost hits the garden and the produce is lost to us. However, it is still so pretty to go riding around the country side and see the many fall flowers in bloom, showing their splendor to those who chance to look.

Russell took me to Lewiston on Monday to baby-sit with my granddaughters and while passing the nursery where one can get shrubs, trees and many other flowering items as well as those that don't flower, we couldn't but notice the beauty of the flower gardens planted near and around the nursery. They were so beautiful to look at and we both admire the beauty of flowers. I wish I wasn't so allergic to odors and scents from flowers, I would love to be able to work around them and make bouquets to decorate people's homes. As long as I can't do that, I just take my time and enjoy the splendid beauty and wonders around me.

Peggy was home for the past weekend and went to visit her daughter, Loretta Merrill in West Bethel, also went on Sunday to visit her daughter Myrna and was going back to Massachusetts from there. Myrna and her husband Bernard are moving back to town after spending the summer months at Lake Thompson, at their cottage. Peggy's other daughter, Kaye, along with her husband Otto, have been visiting with Myrna and Bernard White. They are enjoying their time here in Maine and having a good time to remember after they head back to Florida sometime next month. From all reports, they have had a good time traveling around the countryside and going to flea markets and antique sales and whatever they thought might be interesting. We will miss them when they go back to Florida.

Russell and I have been canning and freezing what they could and I made another batch of pickles. The house always smells so good when pickles are cooking and sending out their spicy smells for everyone to know what's cooking.

Anyone can tell what is cooking at our house if they go out back where the air exchanger is, the hot air from inside the house goes out one side of it and fresh air comes in the other side, making it easy to know what's cooking.

Had a call from my son's wife last night, Wednesday, and she wanted to know if I would like some corn to freeze or can. I accepted the offer and Russell and I husked and cooked, cut off the cob and bagged the corn this morning. It is so good to get all we can in the freezer to help us out during the winter months. It was a brand of corn that we had never had before but tasted real good and will make good corn chowders or be good to have just as it is. I didn't have room to put any away on the cob but will enjoy it just the same. Still have a few other vegetables to put away for the winter and am trying to do it as fast as we can. The cold tells one they better care for the foods if they want them. When the weather gets cool enough for it to be down to 35 or so, it makes one a little uneasy if garden foods aren't being taken care of.

I was pleased to get a letter from the Adult Education Director of SAD #44. She thanked me for writing about what an adult could accomplish from going to Adult Education and hoped it would help some people go instead of hanging back. I am all for it, not just because my daughter started the program in Auburn but I have learned a good deal of what they do for folks who may have a learning disability, also. I know one such party who wanted to get more education and in talking with Wynona, found that she might be able to get more education because of the programs they now have. There has been so much more training in these things in the past years that it is a blessing to many people. Even if one can't get a diploma from high school, any increase in their education can be beneficial to them, whether in their job or just at home. Education is something that can't be taken from one and it is great for anyone to better themselves. If I could drive at night, I would like to take some courses myself. I would be able to write better by am glad so many people have been interested in my writing and let me know they read it. It gives one courage to go on and do what they can, no matter what the circumstances are. So, thank you Cathy for the nice letter.

Been to the doctors as usual and got to go again. That seems to be the life for me but I can't seem to change the way my back acts out and with some discs that give me problems, I expect I shall have to go more. It gives me a chance to see the changes that take place each week as we drive over the roads. The work over at Twin Bridges has taken a long time but it is going to be much better when fully completed. It seemed good this past Monday to be able to cross the bridge and not have to wait for the light to change. It was gone and the bridge open for both lanes. They have made such an improvement in the Harrison road and we notice it and appreciate it. Of course, like others, we would like to see more roads that we travel, fixed and hope in the future some of them can be, but we also realize the cost that must have to be considered when it takes so long to complete a strip of road. We wouldn't be happy if we couldn't grumble a little; that is the nature of us poor humans. Take care everyone and keep warm on these cold mornings. It will be worse instead of better as we all know. It wouldn't be fair time if the weather didn't get cold and lots of times, rainy, would it?

Locke Mills

By LORRAINE MILLS

The Greenwood Historical Society will meet Oct. 1 at 7 p.m. at the society building on Main Street.

The Locke Mills Union Church will hold its harvest supper Saturday Oct. 4. Sunday School will begin at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 5, for the new year.

My apologies for not getting my usual news column in last week. I was called out of town on business unexpectedly and missed the deadline. My daughter says that we are supposed to be busier when we are younger and take it easier as we get older but I always did do everything differently, it seems like, and it's too late to start over now. Besides which I'm having too much fun. I think sometimes we appreciate being able to do things more as we get older. We realize we don't have endless time and if we are going to do it we'd better be doing it. Certainly my days lately have been far from dull.

Val and Caroline Green from Sudbury, Mass., spent the weekend at their home here.

Ella June (Flip) Morse, R.N., and Lynn Heroux, R.N., from Connecticut spent a week visiting relatives in the area and called on Bertha Flanders.

Joanne Cole spent last week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Arthur Ring, Freeport, and helping care for their mother, Mrs. Blanche Bennett.

Lorraine Mills and Geraldine Shimamura attended the mother-daughter banquet put on by the Joy Fellowship, a division of the Women's Ministries for the Northern New England District. Gene Petty was the guest speaker and spoke on the Missionettes, a world-wide organization for girls and young women similar to scouting but with emphasis on integration of social and spiritual values. The Praise Assembly has started a chapter for K-8 graders. Rev. Petty was guest at a roast beef supper for the Men's Ministries at the church building on Roxbury Road. He spoke on the Royal Ranger program available for the boys. John Mills attended that meeting.

Michael Roberts, who was injured in a shooting accident Tuesday (Sept. 16) at his home is reported to be improving at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston. Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Roberts.

Recent callers at Charlotte Cole's were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Billings, Helen Chase, and Mrs. George Gibbs.

Lorraine Mills accompanied Frances Davis, Newry, and Vivian Chase, Bethel, to Manchester, N.H., Sept. 5 and 6, to attend Women's Retreat of the Assemblies of God at the Holiday Inn there. Jeanne Mayo was the speaker at the four sessions, highlighted by a Friday evening banquet and a praise and worship service for the 529 women attending.

Marilyn Van Horn drove their van and took Dot Chopping, Cindy Brown, Bea Clark, Lena Louvat, Mary Theriault and Ann Massey to the retreat from the Rumford-Mexico area.

The Greenwood Auxiliary had a busy month. They put on the Senior Citizens' dinner for the Woodstock group Sept. 4 and the Western Maine Firemen's Association roast beef supper on Sept. 8. On Sept. 9 the local fire department and auxiliary met at the fire station and enjoyed the leftovers from the Western Maine supper. The fire department has been cleaning chimneys this month. The proceeds of the two fund raisers will be reported after the meeting of the auxiliary on Sept. 23.

For those wishing to correspond with Stacey Roberts, his address is Pvt. 1 Stacey Roberts 004-76-9630, Co. A, 11th M.P., BN, 3rd Plt., Fort McClellan, Alabama 36205.

Gina Teal and Cleve Bachelder from Oregon are spending a week visiting their mother, Mrs. Roy Martin and calling on relatives in the area.

The Ladies Circle held their September meeting Wednesday with 13 present. They made plans for their fall sale in November. They also plan to make cookies for the cookie march at the harvest supper.

Monday, Charlotte Cole, Helen Chase, Vera Cross, and Ruth Dunham, went to see Beatrice Farnum in Bryant Pond and sang "Happy Birthday" to her.

Mrs. John Mills and Jennifer McAllister attended the Dennison's puppet evangelism service on Thursday evening at the Bethel Church of the Nazarene.

Stephanie Fuller and Eric Wardwell spent last week in West Covina, Calif., visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Hazelton.

JACKSON-SILVER POST & UNIT

Jackson-Silver Post and Unit #81, American Legion and Auxiliary, met for their regular meetings Thursday night, Sept. 18, at their hall on the Gore Road in Locke Mills. Due to a small attendance the ladies had an informal meeting, and they made plans for these upcoming events:

Oct. 5 at 4 p.m. the juniors will present their Third Annual Americanism Program, "The American Creed," directed by chairman Mary Lyon. She will be assisted by Past Presidents Sylvia Dunham and Cathryn Lovejoy. The public is invited and refreshments will follow. The final rehearsal is Sept. 28, 4 p.m. at the Legion Hall.

Oct. 16, the annual Boy and Girl State banquet. Membership night will also be observed. There will be special guests.

Oct. 21, at 12:30 p.m. is the public card social. Mrs. Mary Lyon will be in charge, with special refreshments and prizes.

Congratulations to Jeri Brooks, the new National Vice President of the Eastern District. Jeri has been a dedicated worker of the Bethel unit for many years.

SCHOOL MEANS GETTING TOGETHER with friends on the playground, as these Agnes Gray youngsters show.

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

The Oxford Hills Staff Development team sponsored a joint conference on Sept. 19 which included teachers from SAD #39, School Union 29 and SAD #61. The children enjoyed a day off and the Agnes Gray School faculty participated in an excellent workshop presented by Dr. Madeline Hunter on Mastery Learning. Dr. Hunter is associated with UCLA in California and held us spellbound with methods that can and do work in the classroom. We will consciously be applying many of her ideas in the years to come.

A date to remember: Monday, Sept. 29, will be a full day. School pictures will be taken during the day and an open house will be held in the evening from 7 to 8. From 7 to 7:30 teachers in grades K-6 will be in their rooms to explain briefly the programs and expectations of their particular grade level. From 7:30 to 8, the individual specialists would like to meet with any and all interested parents to explain what they do. There are some new faces this year, as well as many familiar ones. Mrs. Marilyn Brown is the kindergarten teacher; Mrs. Frances Alexander, grade 1; Robert Van Nest, grade 2; Mrs. Judith Loper, grade 3; Walter Litchfield, grade 4; Mrs. Marta Clements, grade 5; and William Koch, grade 6; Greg Grigsby, home/school counselor; Mrs. Cynthia Kirchherr, special reading; Mrs. Pamela Stock, learning disabilities; Mrs. Mary Gamble, speech; and Miss Sharon Leino, art. Normal routines are well underway. Our 24 1st graders are settling in. They have been collecting and studying soil samples to see and count the contents for science class. For social studies they have made pictures of themselves, their homes and their families.

Some third graders are displaying clay dolphins made under the guidance of volunteer Debbie Small. This was an enrichment activity done as a follow-up to a story about dolphins.

The fourth graders have begun their study of Maine history. Children are still held spellbound by the story of Don Fendler and Lost on a Mountain in

By CAROLYN COLBY

Mrs. Mervin Buck and Mrs. Rose Duguay of Andover visited Rita Wilson, Saturday.

Howard and Mildred Emery visited Joe and Muriel Gilbert on the weekend. Mr. Emery is feeling better than he had been recently.

Irene Wilson has had a lot of company this week. There were: Harry Childs of SMH, whose patients are always pleased to see him; Judith Roy, Rutherford; Lindley Wieden, Laurie Wilson, Scott Boudreau, Clayton and Mary Sweat, and Gloria Wilson of Bethel.

The community wishes to express its sympathy to the family of Eddie Capillon. Eddie and Nellie have spent many summers at the old home place in the Irish Neighborhood.

Mike Halacy, Milton, and Lee Barlow, Hanover, are working in Irene Wilson's winter woodpile.

Marc, Leslie, Nathan and Jenny Moore were in Lewiston Friday.

Florence Beck and Robert Deegan, Randolph, N.H., were down to visit Joe and Leah Deegan during the week.

Maine. All fourth graders in SAD #17 spend one ranking period studying Maine and they study regions of the United States.

The fifth graders have begun tagging butterflies and have now seen the birth, or emerging, of the butterfly as well as the change from caterpillar to chrysalis. The fifth graders have also completed their first book reports—book reviews which have been sent to the Trumpet Book Club. It is possible that one will be chosen to be published on a future Trumpet Book Club order form.

The sixth graders are extending their computer skills, learning that homework is a part of life and welcoming back a classmate, Rihah Newell, who is recovering from hip surgery. Rihah will be on crutches for three or four months but seems to be managing very well.

Next time I'll report on kindergarten and second grade activities, too.

Tri-Town Rescue

Tri-Town Rescue is sponsoring an advanced first aid course Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7 p.m. at the Woodstock Fire Station starting this Thursday. CPR will be the first three classes and may be taken by itself. Tri-Town needs more attendants to fill the gaps by others who have moved or taken jobs. Please consider helping the service by donating some of your time.

Several Tri-Town members are taking the EMT course in Bethel starting Sept. 29. Tri-Town wishes them good luck with the course.

Tri-Town extends its sympathy to Murad Sayen whose father died this week.

The auxiliary is taking a break in September from the busy fund-raising schedule. Plans for October include a dance by Northern Atlantic Oct. 11. The group will also sponsor a supper prior to the Old Parisians' dance Oct. 18 in West Sumner.

BRYANT POND UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

"What It Means To Love" is the title of the Rev. Earle T. McKinney's sermon for Sunday, Sept. 28, at the Universalist Church in Bryant Pond. It is the fourth in a series of sermons about some of the common assumptions and beliefs that form the basis of Unitarian Universalism.

The choir will present special music for the service. Choir rehearsal is at 8:45 a.m. Sunday at the church.

Child care is available during the service which starts at 9:30 a.m. and is followed by a social hour at the church.

Paula Mills, of Bryant Pond, has joined the staff of Growing Thru Adoption, in Lewiston, as full-time administrative assistant. Ms. Mills recently completed her B.S. in Business Administration from Westbrook College, with a concentration in Management.

West Paris

By MIRIAM INMAN

Guests of Mrs. Lena Mustonen during the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Dana Bradford and Holly Owen of Hancock, N.H., and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bradford of Cheshire, Conn.

Ann Proctor and Ivan Jr., and Sid and Cynthia Scott were in Stratton last weekend.

The West Paris Historical Society met on Monday night with 24 in attendance. A potluck supper preceded the meeting. Milton Inman conducted the meeting in the absence of President Clarence Reid.

Ben Conant from the Cape Historical Society, South Paris was present and presented our society with some old books of interest to West Paris, which we gratefully accepted. Our program of historical Maine films had to be postponed until another time, as the projector had a bad bulb. The next meeting will be on Monday, Oct. 20 with Everett and Marian Chase on the supper committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Berry and Daniel were in Quincy, Mass., for the weekend as guests of Donna Berry.

Mrs. Vance Bacon returned on Wednesday after spending several days at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Kathy and Bob Besette, Fairfax, Vt.

The next meeting and potluck dinner of the West Paris Senior Citizens will be held on Oct. 7. Robert Jamison, manager of Oxford County Tel. and Tel. will be present to explain about the changes coming up with the telephones. Gladys Ellingwood is to contact Sheryl Wilbur about the Ledgeview Memorial Home Auxiliary putting on the Thanksgiving dinner. She will also get in touch with the Summer Senior Citizens to see if they are interested in coming to the dinner.

West Paris kids to have skating rink this winter

After last winter's to-ing and fro-ing on getting the skating rink built and filled, this year town officials are stepping in to make sure West Paris youngsters have a skating rink when winter arrives this year.

Town crews have begun digging out about one foot of earth at the rink site. This will be filled with garnet waste, donated by Industrial Garnet, to serve as a base. Plastic sheeting will hold in the water. It is hoped that the deeper rink will prevent the water from disappearing every time there's a thaw.

The sidewalk work in town is about half finished, the selectmen reported. The work is being done by Lars T. paving.

The selectmen are hoping for a good turnout at tonight's public forum to discuss the plan of the Bethel Savings Bank to close its branch in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Calnan of Billerica, Mass., who were vacationing at their camp in Andover, visited Olive Head several times and took her on various scenic rides.

Lay preacher at the West Bethel Union Church last Sunday was Neil Wilson of Lovell. Mr. Wilson substituted for Rev. Rust who, along with Mrs. Rust, was on vacation in Nova Scotia.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stowell spent last Wednesday night with their son and wife, George and Mary Stowell of Falmouth. On Wednesday afternoon they all drove to Old Orchard to visit Ralph and Vickie Coulombe, former West Bethel residents.

Sylvia Akers of Natick, Mass., spent several days recently with her sister-in-law, Olive Head.

Cassandra Perez, daughter of Ben and Roberta (Gilbert) Perez of Mexico, spent last Saturday with her grandparents, Arthur and Ruth Gilbert.

Pleasant Valley Grange held their annual harvest sale last Saturday and the sale committee wishes to thank each and everyone for helping to make it a success. The upcoming Grange meeting to be Thursday night, the 25th, will be installation of officers with Shelburne, N.H., Grange members acting as installing team.

Jane Hosterman returned home recently from visiting her sister in Kingston, Mass., for several days.

41st ANNUAL BIRTHDAY SUPPER AT ANDOVER SATURDAY

The Andover Ladies Aid Society of the First Congregational Church is preparing for their 41st Annual public birthday supper, to be held on Saturday, Sept. 27. The public birthday supper was held on Nov. 7, 1945, and has become a traditional happening—planned for, and looked forward to, ever since.

Twelve tables are decorated to represent each month of the year, with cakes decorated to complement each particular table. If you arrive at the supper and find the table for your birthday month is filled, just pop into some vacant chair at another table and enjoy the good food and fellowship that evolves from this annual celebration.

Due to increased attendance for the past several years, there have been cakes decorated to represent spring, summer, fall and winter, in addition to the 12 months depicted. Following is a list of the table decorators and cake makers for this year. The supper is under the direction of Dolly Jones and Laura Hutchins.

January, Helen Deans and Frannie Poor; February, Jane Rich and Shirley Gammon; March, Ann Bishop and Jerry Marston; April, Bev Swan and Minnie Akers; May, Evelyn Bell and Laura Hutchins; June, Betsy White and Betsy Fisher; July, Roberta Learned and Diane Cutting; August, Dottie Mills and daughter, Peggy; September, Liz Bodwell and daughter, Debbie; October, Dot Campbell and Anne Fox; November, Judy Richardson; December, Linda Percival and Gertrude Percival. Summer, Betsy Belanger; Winter, Judy Michaud; Summer, Paula Smith; Fall, Betsy White.

Andover

By LAURA HUTCHINS

A week of chilly mornings and nice days. Most of our flowers have gotten nipped by the frosts, but I see some in other folk's gardens that are valiantly hanging on and still looking pert and pretty.

Don't forget the public birthday supper at the First Congregational Church in Andover on Saturday, Sept. 27. The usual two settings at 5:30 and 6:15—a third setting if needed. Roast turkey, stuffing, gravy, whole potatoes, cranberry sauce, peas, carrots and baby onions, hot rolls, beverage and beautifully decorated birthday cakes are being prepared for your enjoyment. Come join us and enjoy!

Basil Hutchins, East Andover; Fannie Hall and Maurice Palmer have all returned home from hospitals.

Tylene Dewar, who suffered a broken back and other injuries in an auto accident a few weeks ago, was released from the hospital last weekend and is now home with her parents, Kathy and Gary Williamson in Andover. Kathy reports that she is coming along well.

Several people have seen moose and bears this week here in East Andover. I don't know how many bears have been taken by the bear hunters, but some are evidently preparing for the inevitable winter. As I sit writing this, I can hear the bear hounds yelping down back. Must be hot on a trail!

Mrs. Cecil Abbott, Andover, is a patient at Rumford Community Hospital where she underwent surgery on Thursday, Sept. 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jones were among other supper guests this week at their daughter Laura Plawlock's in Bethel, in honor of their granddaughter Sara's birthday.

The Andover Fire Department members were cleaning chimneys last Sunday. Ours wasn't that dirty, but we feel better knowing it is clean. If anyone would like to have their chimney cleaned, give Fire Chief Ken Dixon a call.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hutchins went to Norway to visit Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hodgkins Wednesday evening. Finding no one home we left Bonnie's birthday gift and cake and went to one of the local restaurants for supper. On our return trip we visited Mr. and Mrs. Preston Cobb and family at Bryant Pond. They have finally been able to get all the pines in front and in back of the house taken down. It gives them a lovely view of Mt. Abram and the pond. No more worry about a windblow bringing the pines on to the house.

A call from Muriel Whitney of the Bethel Area Health Center asks me to please put notice in my column of an upcoming Flu Clinic to be held on Oct. 9, at the First Congregational Church, Christian Education Building, Andover, from 12:30 to 2:00. In next week's column will be a listing of those who should not have the shots. If you plan to have a flu shot each year, mark your calendar for this date and come on out.

MRS. GALLANT'S 1ST-GRADERS at Andover Elementary School recently received some pointers on how to use the library from Librarian Merilee Thurston.

Notes from Adult & Community Education

The Fall 1986 Teacher Orientation for the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program was held on Wednesday, Sept. 17, at Telstar Regional High School, with 32 staff members attending. Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell conducted the session which followed a dessert and coffee social. Mrs. Newell welcomed the group, commenting that the SAD #44 program has achieved its reputation over the past 10 years because of the enthusiasm of talented individuals in the area and their willingness to share their skill or knowledge with others. She went on to present an overview of the SAD #44 program, including the adult high school completion, literacy, vocational, and enrichment components. Adding that many of the adults who have earned their high school credential got their start in adult education in one of the many enrichment courses, she stressed that all adult education staff members should be aware of the services the program offers and encourage students in the classes to participate.

New aspects of the program this year include participation by SAD #44 and SAD #17 in the nation-wide Project Literacy US (PLUS) campaign, the addition of adult guidance services on Tuesday evenings, the coming restructuring of the Advisory Council, the televised GED preparation series, and a greater emphasis on working with area employers.

MOLLOCKETT MIXERS

The Mollockett Mixers will hold a mainstream level square dance on Sept. 27, from 8-11 p.m. at the Rumford Junior-Senior High School. Yikes Cameron will be calling with Wally Weeks cueing the rounds.

Mrs. Martha Martin of Greenwood attended the meeting as an adult volunteer who will be working with students in the adult learning center. She was introduced by Rod Abbott, a veteran adult educator who will be teaching at the center in Bryant Pond this fall.

Small group sessions were held with Nora Fitzgerald, Adult Basic Education Supervisor, meeting with all diploma and learning staff, Roy Silver with personnel using the shop, Julie Daye and Rachel MacKay with teachers whose classes involve a project, and Cathy Newell with a group discussing methods of teaching adults.

Most classes will start during the week of Sept. 22, with others beginning throughout the fall. To enroll, or for further information, please contact the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780.

Calvary Congregational Church

Last Sunday was Rally Day at the Calvary Congregational Church and was "Reverse Sunday." Rally Day starts the fall quarter of quarter of Sunday School in September.

Church was at nine-thirty, the usual hour for Sunday School. Those who wanted to wear their clothing inside out, backwards, shoes mismatched etc.

The teachers drew names and taught different classes than usual. Classes were taught first half hour.

The worship service was the last half hour, "Jesus Love Just Bubbles Me Over" was sung backwards with motions.

The attendance was larger than last Sunday, so the record was broken. Keir Stinson had a large balloon of water broken over his head to the delight of all.

Marjorie Stinson, superintendent, read from Acts 17:2-6 about "those who turned the world upside down." Presented some gospel magic. Becky Simmons taught a new song "Vitamins."

The teens made a reverse machine. Everyone enjoyed and laughed at what the machine reversed.

Dinner was served with dessert first, the main meal after. Games and pinata were played, finishing a good time.

Arthur and Ruth Cummings, Bethel, called on Mr. and Mrs. Brian Hanscom and three sons one evening last week.

CARD OF THANKS

North Paris

By EVELINE B. VATCHER

We had a heavy shower Friday afternoon (Sept. 12) and a beautiful, many colored rainbow showed for nearly a half hour. Doris and "Root" Lawrence joined the Vatchers and Pinkhams and Arnold for supper and we enjoyed the news on channel 6 on the porch. That's when we enjoyed the rainbow.

We are sorry to hear that Ashley Allen has had a stroke. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher had a nice trip to Cape Cod and were gone three days. The first night they spent at a motel in Barnstable right on the water. The next morning over one hundred wild Canadian geese were feeding on the lawn. A sign said feed the ducks but not the geese. Joe took down a loaf of bread for the ducks. Joe looked up his cousin Henry Vatcher whom he hadn't seen for 40 years. Forty miles above Barnstable a tornado struck.

They went to the end of the road in Provincetown and they saw many, many condominiums and hundreds of motels. They spent Tuesday Night in Saugus, Mass., and Wednesday morning they headed for North Paris, and home. Joe picked five quarts of cranberries and he was happy. It reminded him of his boyhood days when he and his brothers picked the cranberries and their mother picked them over and they sold them to regular customers. They called on Joe's mother and took her some snacks and she was happy. Eveline has decided "no city life" for her. When it takes one hour to drive four miles bumper to bumper. It's a lot easier in the country on "Shank's Mare."

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Abbott joined Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Inman, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Inman and Mr. and Mrs. Sayward Lamb on a fishing trip to Baxter State Park. They left early Friday morning and will return Monday evening. Joe Vatcher will feed "Brute," the dog. All the Abbott family members were present at the reunion at Harlan's except Edna. Her car isn't too good so she didn't try to make it.

Kenneth Vatcher, Lynn, Mass., was in town Wednesday on business. He returned home Wednesday p.m.

Joe Kalinowski came to "Big Rock" Monday for the fall activities, including Fryeburg Fair, and the Tri Town supper and dance Oct. 18.

Perry Burgi brought Joe Vatcher's repaired channel selector for satellite Friday and are they happy. It's a good anniversary present.

The supper plans for Sept. 27 are well underway. Let's all go, it's like a reunion. Callers at Lawrence's: Joe Kalinowski, Marge Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher, Arnold Coffin, Francis Brooks, and Reta Charles.

Monday, Sept. 15, Doris Lawrence and Arnold Coffin took a birthday cake to their sister, Alice Goff, at Cozy Inn in observance of her 86th birthday.

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

Here is a description of an old-time coach ride—

"It was hot in the coach. The June sunshine was merciless, and the dust raised by the horses' hooves powdered the hedges, penetrated the coach, tickled the throats of the travellers, and set their eyes smarting. They had dined adequately at Brentford off salt pork and malt liquor, but now they were crossing Staines Bridge and their thirst and peevishness more and more inclined them towards slumber. They were aware of the hardness of their seats of the jolting of the coach, of the increasing tedium of the journey... they sat, fingers crossed, guarding against ill luck, lest some mishap befall the coach on its way across the Heath."

The following are the officers of the Woodstock Historical Society for 1986-87: president, Esther Davis; vice-president, Robert Billings; secretary, Louisa Noyes; treasurer, Annie Crockett; trustee for one year, Ray Burnham; trustee for three years, Paul Billings; curator, Larry Billings; assistant curator, Louisa Noyes; chairman of the board of trustees, Paul Billings; and vice-chairman of the board of trustees, Ray Burnham.

The first one in Bethel will be held on Monday, Oct. 6, from 5:30-7 p.m. at the Bethel Area Health Center. The second one in Bethel will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 7, at the senior citizens' meal site at the Methodist Church from 12:30-2 p.m. For the convenience of Andover residents a clinic will be held on Thursday, Oct. 9, 12:30-2 p.m. at the First Congregational Church.

In the village of Bryant Pond there will be a clinic held on Friday, Oct. 3, from 12:30-2 p.m. at the Woodstock Town Hall. Because the cost of the vaccine has increased, the charge for a flu shot will be $7.

- Those who have a fever or feel ill with something more serious than a cold.
- Those who have received another type of vaccine in the past 2 weeks.
- Those with allergies to eggs.
- Those with multiple sclerosis or other personal neurological illness.
- Those who are pregnant.

The Northern Oxford Health and Service Council will provide flu shots for those who are needy and do not have Medicaid coverage. Flu shots are covered by Medicaid.
